Webinar Description

Learn how to avoid the legal risks associated with the use of social media in the workplace and how to develop and implement effective social media policies.

Most employers don't really want to know what their employees did last night, but they might find out on social media. This session will examine social media in the workplace and will address how to avoid legal risks associated with monitoring and disciplining employees for their social media use. This session will offer best practices for navigating employee privacy issues, employee conduct outside of work and the use of social media as part of the hiring process.

In order to function at maximum effectiveness, a manager must master critical communication skills, including active listening, the ability to receive and provide constructive feedback, to resolve conflicts and to coach and mentor.
