Webinar Description

Minimize hiring mistakes by using pre-hire assessments to measure job skills and personality attributes needed for top performance in key roles in your organization. Avoid costly turnover by hiring new employees who not only have the skills to do the job but who will also embrace the work required with high engagement and fit into your culture.

Understand what assessments are available and how they can be applied to your organization. Making sure you are measuring a candidate's job fit is just as important as them having the correct skills to complete the work.

Learn how to reduce early-stage turnover, hire top quality candidates, and leverage technology to match assessments to the skills and attributes of your own organization's top performers
